Introduction

The purpose of this manual is to communicate to organizations (internal and external) and suppliers, common Product Quality Planning and Control (PQP) guidelines designed to produce a product quality plan, which will support the development of a product or service that will satisfy the customer (see Section 1.4). The following terms, used in this manual are used to describe the quality plan. The term "organization" refers to the unit to which these guidelines apply. The term "supplier" replaces the term subcontractor that was used in the first edition. Some of the expected benefits in using these guidelines are:

- A reduction in the complexity of product quality planning for the customer and organization.
- A means for organizations to easily communicate product quality planning requirements to suppliers.

This reference manual contains guidelines that support the requirements as described in ISO 9000 series and applicable customer-specific requirements. All items in this manual are provided as examples only. The purpose is to assist the organization's product quality planning team in developing an appropriate communication plan to support meeting customer requirements, needs, and expectations.

The Product Quality Planning Cycle shown on the facing page is a graphic depiction of a typical program. The seven phases are sequential in the order presented, but may be repeated as needed. The purpose of the Product Quality Planning Cycle is to:

- Implement planning. The first three quarters of the cycle are devoted to product quality planning through production, validation, and implementation.
- The act of implementation. The fourth quarter is the time when the importance of evaluating the output serves no function. In absence of customer are satisfied, and to support the period of continual improvement.

Repeating product quality planning as a cycle illustrates the never-ending pursuit of continual improvement that can only be achieved by taking the experience in one program and applying that acquired knowledge to the next program.

Go to ratings and opinions In this new edition of the book called the most beautiful ever written chemistry book, Peter Atkins reveals the molecules responsible for the experiences of our daily life in fabrics, drugs, plastics, explosives, detergents, fragrances, tastes and sex. Atkins gives a non-technical account of a range of aspects of the world that surrounds us, revealing unexpected connections and a vision of how it can be understood in terms of the atoms and molecules of which it is constructed. This new edition has dozens of new molecules, new graphic presentations and a more accessible account of the molecules themselves. Peter Atkins is SmithKline Beecham Fellow and Tutor in Physical Chemistry at Oxford University. Atkins' research includes the fields of theoretical chemistry, especially magnetic resonance and electromagnetic properties of molecules. He spends almost all his time writing books, ranging from bestselling university textbooks to books on general public science, including Galileo Finger (Oxford, 2003); The Newspaper Kingdom (Basic Books, 1997); The Second Law (W.H. Freeman, 1995); and Atoms, Electrons and Change (W.H. Freeman, 1991). Previous edition Paperback (W.H. Freeman, 1995) 0-7167-2928-8 The requested URL was not found on this server.
